SEVEN PERISH

In the Fire in the Town of Sutton About Midnight
Saturday.

Fire which was discovered at Sutton at almost Saturday midnight, resulted in the death of seven persons. They were Mrs. J. F. Harden, five children of Mr. and Mrs. Harden and Miss Ada Green, who lived with the Harden family. Mr. Harden escaped but is in a crazed condition. The fire destroyed the Harden residence causing a financial loss of $5,000.

In point of the loss of life the fire is the worst that has happened in the state for years. The Harden home was on fire throughout when the fire was first seen. Mrs. Harden in terror leaped from a second story window and died from her injuries a short time later. Mr. Harden rushed from the burning dwelling moaning and talking incoherently, the calamity having bereft him of his reason.

The five children and young woman probably were suffocated before they were burned, and never knew what happened.

MRS. SEATON

Is Organizing Lodge of the Royal Neighbors at New Martinsville.

Mrs. Elizabeth Seaton, state organizer for the Royal Neighbors, spent a few days in New Martinsville last week, perfecting arrangements for an installation and banquet of a lodge, to be held in that city February 24. The Royal Neighbors order is an auxiliary lodge of the Modern Woodmen of America, and while it is a ladies' lodge, any member of the Modern Woodmen of America is eligible to membership. Mrs. Seaton returned home for Sunday, but will return this week to complete arrangements for the installation and banquet. Mrs. Seaton states that that city will have a very flourishing lodge at the start and that she expects to see one of the best lodges in the state in New Martinsville in the near future.

PROTEST

To Be Sent the Legislature
Against the Proposed License Tax on Gas.

Independent gas producers in this county as well as others are signing a protest against the proposed license tax on the production of gas, which they will send to the legislature at once. They assert that the tax would be a severe hardship on them as they are under contract to furnish gas at two and a half and three cents a thousand feet. It is stated that the tax would not fall so heavily on the Standard and its subsidiaries as they could make the consumers pay it. In answer to the suggestion that the independent operators contracted their gas too cheaply, they call attention to the fact that it sells at wholesale here for only four cents.

JAIL SENTENCE

Of Ten Days is Imposed Upon
"the Irish Tramp" for Being Drunk.

"The Irish Tramp," alias Edward Shawhan, is resting behind bars of the county jail and he will remain there until he serves out a sentence of ten days, which was imposed at the regular session of police court Sunday morning by Mayor Frank R. Moore for being drunk in the streets. Benjamin Harris, who was arrested in Pike street by Policeman James Simms for "bootlegging" whiskey, was remanded to jail for investigation of his case by county authorities. Five men paid fines of $4.60 each for plain drunkenness. Three others were fined the same amounts for similar offenses but they were penniless and the mayor had them taken across the city line by policemen.

HAIR PULLING

Monongalia County Women
Scratch and Tug and One is Jailed.

MORGANTOWN, Feb. 20.—The community living in the vicinity of the Pleasant Valley school house, near the Marion county line, is very much wrought up over a sensational hair pulling bee, in which the principals were Miss Lillian Cordray, who "teaches the young idea how to shoot" at the village school, and Miss Ada Holt, who is prominent in that section of the county.

The trouble between the two occurred last Friday. It really dates back of that day, but it was then that actual hostilities commenced. Miss Holt called at the school house, accosted Miss Cordray, and suggested a retraction of some story which Miss Cordray had repeated, or which Miss Holt thought she had. When diplomacy failed, the ladies got into one another's hair, and rats, switches and false curls were left on the ground as mementoes of the encounter.

Miss Cordray's dignity was ruffled to such an extent that she decided to secure legal satisfaction. A warrant was issued upon her affidavit, and Miss Holt was arrested and placed in jail here. The hearing is set for next Wednesday, and a "standing room only" sign is being prepared to hang out at the office of the magistrate on that day.
